BUREAU OF THE MINT,

WASHINGTON, D. C. April 13, 1891.

The Acting Superintendent, U. S. Mint

Philadelphia, Pa.

Sir:

If you have any need for a coining press I have no objection to your ordering one from the Ferracute Machine Co., N. J. at the price named, but you will only order it in case you think it necessary for the ^{business} ~~interest~~ of the mint.

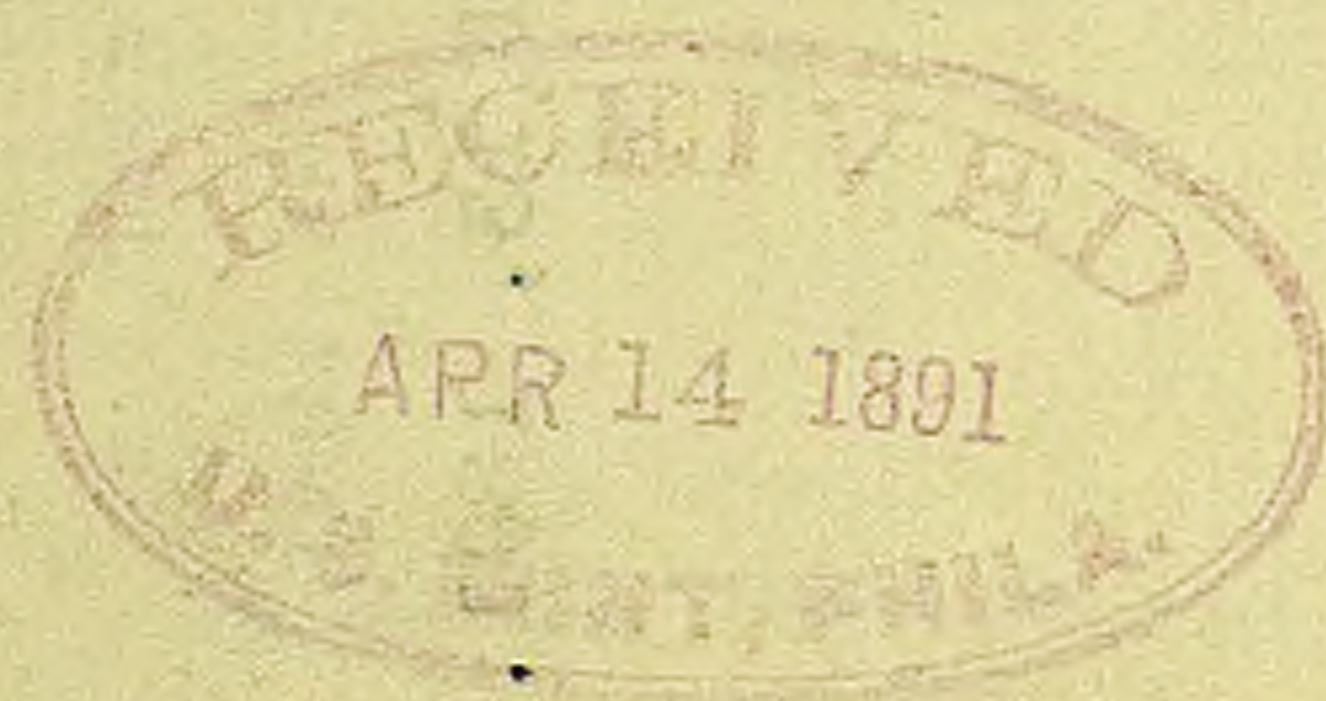

I would suggest that possibly you might leave the matter until the return of the Superintendent, as there is no pressing hurry.

Very respectfully,

Director.
